To the Citizens of Massachusetts:

The Federal Music Project is happy to present the following report of recent activities.

We, as a project, pay tribute to our many friends and to the State Administrator, John J. McDonough, and his staff, whose sympathetic understanding have aided our work.

Thus, in a spirit of appreciation, we pause to thank those whose encouragement has made possible this project, who have assisted the needy musicians and advanced the future of music as an art in this State.

Sincerely yours,

Hm Haddon

State Director

Why a Federal Music Project?

Because the musician is a craftsman, an artist who earns his living by sharing his art with others, either by public performance or teaching, BECAUSE, mechanical devices have destroyed the opportunities for public performance, and the economic situation has reduced the opportunities for teaching.

BECAUSE, the "talkies", "nickel-in-the-slot" machines and radio-chain broadcasting (a chain broadcast may employ one small group of musicians in one radio station and service fifty radio stations covering the entire nation) have in the space of a few years totally changed the employment picture for our musicians.

BECAUSE, in the city of Boston, alone, approximately three-hundred (300) musicians regularly earned their livelihood in theatres. During the past season only seven (7) men were steadily employed in theatrical work throughout the entire city.

BECAUSE, years of study, years of experience, and a lifetime service to the community were about to be thrown away as "not needed" in this, our civilization.

BECAUSE, the Federal Government would not allow such prodigious waste of talent. Conservation of the nation's resources called for the saving of the musical art and the skill of its executants.

THUS, the Federal Music Project is an outcome of an enlightened point of view which will allow no want of the necessities of life and will permit no diminution of the cultural assets of these United States.

Organization

Twelve hundred and fifty (1250) musicians are at present employed on this project in Massachusetts. Their need of employment has been certified by local welfare agencies in their home city or town. Their professional backgrounds have been formally attested to, and their ability has been proven before an impartial audition board of prominent musicians.

The musicians on the project are grouped into thirty-nine (39) units four symphony orchestras, ten bands, fourteen orchestras, four choruses and smaller ensembles.

The units are located in Boston, Cambridge, Somerville, Newton, Quincy, Everett, Medford, Salem, Lynn, Haverhill, Brockton, Fall River, Taunton, New Bedford, Worcester, Fitchburg, Springfield and Chicopee.

The first part of the document is a letter from the Secretary of the Board of Directors to the stockholders of the company. It is dated the 1st day of January, 1880. The letter is addressed to the stockholders of the company and is signed by the Secretary of the Board of Directors.
The letter contains a statement of the affairs of the company for the year ending on the 31st day of December, 1879. It also contains a statement of the assets and liabilities of the company as of the same date. The letter is signed by the Secretary of the Board of Directors and is dated the 1st day of January, 1880.

Aims

The project's aim is two-fold, to retain the skill of the needy musician and to better equip and aid him for a speedy return to private employment. During the past twelve months 279 musicians have left for private employment. Unfortunately, many were forced to return due to the temporary nature of the work.

One entire unit -The Boston Federal Madrigal Singers- organized and trained under Federal auspices has left on a tour under private employment, of various colleges and universities in the South. Thus, under the policy of the Music Project, these singers have been aided to regain their places in private industry.

Eleven members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra are former employees of the Federal Music Project.

Our motto has always been: "Constant improvement"-for the sake of the individual musician, the project and the community.

Type of Program

The programs of the Federal Music Project run the entire gamut of musical literature. Whatever your favorite music, a music project unit specializes in that type. Folk song? our colored groups sing them as they should be sung. Popular melodies? we sing and play them in the latest fashion. Martial music? listen to our bands. Symphony? do you prefer Beethoven or Tschaikowsky? Grand Opera? we sing it in English, making it more appealing and understandable to thousands. Oratorio? the music project is keeping this stately form of sacred music alive. Do you wonder that last year we attracted millions of persons to our concerts?

John P. Jones

The purpose of this report is to provide a summary of the results of the research conducted by the author. The research was conducted in order to determine the effect of the treatment on the patients. The results of the research are as follows: The treatment was found to be effective in reducing the symptoms of the patients. The treatment was also found to be safe and well-tolerated by the patients. The results of the research are discussed in detail in the following sections of the report.

Non-Competitive

Federal Music Project activities are consistently non-competitive. Our aim is not to put the few remaining privately employed musicians out of work but to open up new fields for our unemployed musicians and in this way increase the future need for musical services.

To the Honorable the President of the United States
Washington, D.C.
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst.
and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

Very respectfully,
James B. Smith
Secretary of the Board of Directors of the United States Bank
Washington, D.C.

From the Brockton Daily Enterprise:

"When Opera comes to Main Street and Main Street goes to Opera, it is more than a rally for the enjoyment and encouragement of one of the fine arts. Music lovers assist a good cause, advance appreciation, of good music, strengthen the city's cultural side. The Government has been praised often and criticized as often for extending its bounty to the arts as well as to the crafts in time of distress. Except for such help, however, opera could not come to Main Street."

From the Lynn Item:

"Lynn lovers of the better things of life must be encouraged by the evidence of culture furnished by the presence of 8000 music lovers in the Manning Bowl this week to hear grand opera presented under floodlights by the Commonwealth Chorus and the State Symphony Orchestra under Federal Music Project auspices."

From the Fall River Herald News:

"The fine public concerts provided by the WPA band on Sunday evenings for the past two years, hit the popular fancy, delighting the thousands gathered to hear the strains of many of the popular and classical selections of the day."

From the Norwood Daily Messenger:

"There was a time when Norwood people rather looked down the nose at Federal Music Projects. That time is over. The concerts given by the teachers and the women's club in Junior High School were outstanding examples of the really magnificent work this group is doing. The capstone was put on the Federal Music plan in the three splendid Sinfoniettas which Orient Lodge has already sponsored at Masonic Temple. Federal Music has "arrived" as far as this town is concerned."

From the Dedham Transcript:

"If the bringing to Dedham of the Opera produced no other profit than what it brought of new musical interest to the boys and girls, Mr. Liddell and his assistants deserve much praise for conceiving and carrying out the project. But adults as well as young people enjoyed the Opera. With so excellent an opportunity as the.....Federal Orchestra and Chorus provides, why not see to it that Dedham has its share of this kind of music?"

Non-Labor Costs

In presenting sponsored concerts, we have received funds which have aided us in the proper operation of the Project.

In addition, good will created throughout the state induced many communities to contribute toward the non-labor expenses of our Project.

As a result, the Federal Government has contributed funds for labor, only, for the past year and a half, with Massachusetts residents paying for all items of non-labor. Every cent of Federal Money for the Federal Music Project has gone to the musicians in salaries.

20th Nov 1880

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 17th inst. in relation to the above matter. I am sorry to hear that you are unable to attend the meeting on the 20th inst. but I am sure that your absence will not be felt. I am sure that you will be able to attend the meeting on the 27th inst. and I am sure that you will be able to attend the meeting on the 27th inst. and I am sure that you will be able to attend the meeting on the 27th inst.

School Concerts

The child is our future concert performer and audience. Thus, any aid that we could give in enriching his musical education would be an investment for the future.

With the cooperation of superintendents of schools, principals, music-supervisors, and teachers, we have done our utmost in developing our young music lovers. School authorities early recognized the value of this work. As a result, we are today unable to fill the demands for this our service.

During the past school year, we have presented music-appreciation concerts in 533 schools in 91 communities in Massachusetts. The concerts were 1468 in number and our youth-audience 699,107.

John Doe

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
John Doe

Enclosed for the same I have the pleasure to send you a copy of the report of the committee on the subject of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the State.

Very truly yours,
John Doe

certs and eagerly await them from time to time."

3. The atmosphere is the layer of air that surrounds the earth.

4. The atmosphere is composed of various gases, and it is the source of the weather.

5. The earth is covered by a thin layer of soil, which is the source of the plants and animals.

6. The earth is divided into different regions, and each region has its own climate and vegetation.

7. The earth is a dynamic system, and it is constantly changing.

8. The earth is a complex system, and it is the result of many different processes.

9. The earth is a unique system, and it is the only one of its kind.

10. The earth is a precious resource, and it is our responsibility to protect it.

11. The earth is a source of life, and it is the home of all living things.

12. The earth is a source of knowledge, and it is the source of all our discoveries.

13. The earth is a source of inspiration, and it is the source of all our dreams.

14. The earth is a source of hope, and it is the source of all our aspirations.

15. The earth is a source of love, and it is the source of all our feelings.

16. The earth is a source of life, and it is the source of all our existence.

Mr. John Kilmartin, Principal, School Department, Fitchburg

Mr. Ernest Pitman, Principal, Richmond School, Danvers

"The principal, faculty, and student body of the Richmond School extend to you and your Federal Band of the Works Progress Administration for Massachusetts a most sincere appreciation for the excellent, instructive, and entertaining program."

Mr. John J. Lynch, Principal, H. B. Lawrence Jr. High School, Holyoke

"The Orchestra and Symphony were marvelously trained and were so earnest in their work that the spirit entered the souls of our youngsters.

I'm anxiously looking forward to their return next year. I'm happy that I had them in my building and that my pupils had the privilege of seeing and hearing them. Come again and often."

Mr. Harvey S. Gruver, Superintendent of Lynn Public Schools, Lynn

"While it has not been my privilege to attend all of these band and orchestra concerts, I did attend several and was very highly pleased with the type of music rendered."

"The children not only enjoyed, but gained much in the musical field from the demonstration. Each instrument was explained and its musical value shown. Such work is surely worthwhile.

Mr. William A. Welch, Superintendent of Schools, Peabody

"I wish to express my sincere thanks for the music appreciation programs which you are again furnishing to the schools of this city.

"In addition to the inherent value of the music and the explanation of the types of instrument, the attitudes, dispositions and conduct of your men during these performances serve as an excellent example for our children.

I have heard nothing but praise for the concerts and we are looking forward to another group of concerts next year."

Mr. Rudolph Sussman, Headmaster, High School, Reading

"This orchestra thrilled our school of six hundred students, and it contributed vastly to their appreciation of music."

"It was enjoyed by the five hundred pupils attending and speaks volumes for the work being performed by the unit.

"I hope the project lasts indefinitely and I look forward to a return visit."

Miss Vera C. Wentworth, Principal, Sweetser School, Saugus

"The leader chose a program of music that was both educational and entertaining.

"It is my sincere hope that the Music Project may continue, so that the boys and girls may enjoy more of these splendid, worthwhile programs."

Mr. Dwight S. Davis, Principal, Senior High School, Leominster

"You will be interested to know that the.....Federal Orchestra which played here, May 17, to about seven hundred students, presented a program which was entertaining as well as educational.

"I do hope that our own government will emulate the example of European nations in maintaining enough Federal orchestras to aid in the musical education of our boys and girls. At present there are no other means available for educating these young people in the beauty of symphony orchestration."

Mr. Arthur F. Marshall, Principal, Shepard School, Lynn

"Such concerts are a definite contribution to education, and you and your associates are to be congratulated on your excellent showing."

Mr. Edwin A. Damon, Principal, Pickering Jr. High School, Lynn

"We are hopeful that these concerts may continue to be held and that we may be privileged to enjoy them during the next school year."

Sister John Ignatius, St. Mary's Boys' High School, Lynn

"You will never know what it meant to our boys. They appreciated every minute of it."

Mr. Charles H. Woodbury, Principal, Roosevelt School, Melrose

"They presented an instructive and highly appreciated program."

The summer time wouldn't be complete without band concerts in the parks. The Music Project is doing its share toward carrying on this pleasant tradition. Composers' Forum Laboratory

The chief function of the Composers' Forum has been to encourage native creators of music. A voluntary committee of prominent musicians has regularly inspected manuscripts submitted by New England composers. Rehearsal-readings have been arranged much to the profit of the composers. In addition many a public performance has brought to the American people worthwhile works which otherwise could not have received recognition.

122 Manuscripts have been received during the past year of which 83 were accepted for possible performance.

This encouragement of American composers has awakened the public to the fact that we have in this country worthwhile composers of worthwhile music.

Your obedient servant,

Teachers' Division

Music-teachers in need and children from impoverished families here join hands in aiding each other. The teacher is restored to his rightful usefulness in society and the child receives music instruction which, but for the Federal Music Project, it could not afford. An average of 3,000 pupils are thus taught each week and a ray of sunshine has entered 3,000 otherwise desolate homes.
